

Montana State Prison | Low-Side Visitor's Room | Percent for Art Project

In a caravan of the installer, staff and board member from the Montana Arts Council, 16 enlargements on aluminum panel were delivered to MSP. We had a great day there with the MSP staff helping us to unload and layout the visitor's room. These are images of "home" in Montana as seen and captured through the eyes of 15 Montana photographers. From all walks of life and levels of professionalism, our photographers were chosen by the selection committee for this project. It was a difficult job they said. I would echo their words: so much talent exists in this state. Our installer, Tom Foolery was also a selected photographer. Tom is a Dillon artist who specializes in assemblage art and has a long history of professional art installation as well. Board Member Arlene Parisot, our assistant Czelsi Kozak and I assisted the installer with the oversized artworks. | Kim Baraby Hurtle
